

SKIING

Lebanon sounds like an unlikely ski hotspot, but life is full of surprises. These days, Lebanon is drawing in more and more visitors than ever before, many from the UK revelling in the accessibility of ski slopes as day trips from the coast, world-class services available to those staying in the mountains and amenities catering to all budgetary standards (fully inclusive chalets, five-star hotels, budget lodges).

Better yet, where else can you ski in the morning and plunge into the Mediterranean in the afternoon? Lebanon's most famous ski facility is the world-class Mzaar resort, just 45 minutes from Beirut and the coast. Not far beyond are the country's other attractions – variable terrains (mountains, green valleys, extensive coastline), many spotted with ruins from all ages, natural wonders of all shapes and sizes, and cities and villages home to souks overflowing with the kind of food and wine you would expect from a Mediterranean idyll.

Now's the time to ski Lebanon and enjoy the Middle Sea charm and welcome of a country that's back on the map.
